Description of the Czech language exam at JAMU FM:

The test includes a written part focused on grammar and vocabulary, a reading comprehension part and listening and a part focused on the applicant's writing skills.

- 1) With regard to the specific nature of studies at the JAMU Faculty of Music, the test is focused mostly on vocabulary, including vocabulary related to music and culture. The test tasks include replacing words by synonyms and antonyms, explaining the meaning of common phrases, gap fill and completion of Czech texts. Attention is also paid to the knowledge of the meaning of conjunctions, prepositions and their correct fitting in sentences, the ability to use correct verb prefixes (přejít, vyjít, projít, etc.), the ability to respond to questions, react to social situations, etc.
- 2) The grammar part tests conjugation of verbs (e.g. the verb být), modals and other common verbs including reflexive verbs, in all tenses. Imperative, conditional, active and passive voice frequently used verbal aspect pairs.

Noun declension, gender marking (učitel – učitelka, král – královna), etc. Declension of personal and reflexive pronouns, adjectives, comparison of common adjectives and adverbs.
- 3) An important part of the test is comprehension of an authentic written and spoken Czech text (from a textbook, newspapers and magazines), and comprehension is tested by questions or writing a summary.
- 4) Spoken interview focused on general conversation topics.

Assessment:

150 points - Grammar/Lexical test including Reading Comprehension, 50 points - oral examination. A passing rate of 60 % is required

For a 'passing' mark, it is necessary to achieve at the same time a) an overall minimal 90 points (60 % points) from the first three parts and a minimal 30 points (60 % points) from the fourth part.

The validity of an issued certificate at HF JAMU confirming a passed examination is
